

92 The One Hotel Cambodia

If you have delusions of grandeur, this may be the pad for you – a one-suite hotel above an art gallery with the staff, including a chef, at your beck and call. The One Hotel is on a quiet lane of boutiques and restaurants in Siem Reap. In-room gadgets include an iBook, iPod and flat-screen telly, while upstairs there's a roof terrace with a sun lounger and Jacuzzi. If you make it out the door, there's a rather big, rather famous temple to explore.

● From US$250 plus 10% VAT, 00855 12 755 311, theonehotelangkor.com.

93 Windmill of the Sun Portugal

This whitewashed windmill at the eastern end of the Algarve boasts bare-stone walls, bamboo ceilings and Moroccan rugs, as well as an open fireplace that's ideal for sitting in front of à deux, sipping the local vinho verde. If you can be bothered to get out of bed, the beach is a short drive away, while a 10-minute walk takes you to the market town of Tavira.

● 01752 551500, thelittledomain.com. From £350 per week, self-catering. The windmill is 40km east of Faro.

94 Renato's Tower Italy

Set in the private hamlet of Borgo di Biagio, on the border of Umbria and Tuscany, this 1,000-year-old tower hides a secret behind its battlements: a roof-top spa tub offering 360-degree views of the hills and 100% privacy. The tower's decor is rustic without being fusty, while the cosy dimensions (one room per floor) have made this a favourite for honeymooners. When you get bored of staring into each other's eyes, there's also a heated pool shared with Borgo's four other rental properties.

● 020-7384 5897, cvtravel.co.uk. From £890 per week, self-catering.

95 Kolarbyn Sweden

This magical forest log cabin in central Sweden is like something out of Hansel and Gretel, although happily without the witch. Don't expect electricity, but candlelight, sheepskin rugs, a fluffy duvet and a log fire amply compensate. Kolarbyn is utterly eco-friendly but that doesn't mean the owners don't understand the need for luxury, providing organic wine, Fairtrade chocolate and fruit. It's hard to believe you're barely two hours from Stockholm. If you're really lucky, you'll hear the wolves howling across the lake.

● 01929 463774, naturetravels.co.uk. From £229 per couple for three days. Stockholm Västerås airport is 60km away (fly Ryanair from Stansted.)

98

96 The Minnow House Edinburgh

With views of Arthur's Seat on one side and Edinburgh Castle on the other, there's little danger of feeling claustrophobic in the Minnow House. Like all the best bits of Scotland's capital, this pepperpot-shaped folly combines old-world grandeur (including antique leather furniture, a panelled and vaulted octagonal sitting-room, and wood-burning stove) with informal charm. Concealed cooking and washing-up areas also make it a Tardis-like miracle of miniaturisation. A pond garden and courtyard out front completes the romantic idyll.

● 0131-558 7740, special-escapes.co.uk. From £195 for three nights.

97 Sleepy Cove Island Canada

A pine-covered, apostrophe-shaped speck of land on the Shubenacadie Grand Lake, the remarkably good-value Sleepy Cove proves you don't need to be Richard Branson to enjoy a private island. This rustic log cabin resembles something out of *Wallpaper** magazine. Despite being just 20km from Halifax, the capital of Nova Scotia, it should bring out the Grizzly or Griselda Adams in anyone. Loved-up couples will relish the solitude (there's